Who am i?

This is my Diary! A diary that is dearest to me, because I tend to forget things all the time. I obviously don't need a diary to whine, because that's for scrubs.

Which reminds me of my unfriendly class, which apparently is not such a huge fan of me or work. I guess they're just jealous because I'm definitely the next topper. I don't even need to try anymore.

Why do I need them anyway? Got my comics to entertain me. And anime stories to wreck me. Never wanted to see the fusion of Nina and her dog.

Sucked so much!

Either way, I can handle things on my own. I have my machines to take care of that part. I just wish I wasn't this forgetful. It sucks!

Today's a long day, and there's a lot of work to be done. Although I'm quite good at managing things, I shouldn't have slept so late last night. I really need my daily caffeine dose, but sadly, the coffee maker has broken down. It's actually been a week since it stopped working.

I was trying to cook something for myself, I was following one of Gordon Ramsey's recipes on YouTube and somehow my coffee machine ended up in the oven, so now it's broken.

8:00 AM

Could this day get any worse? I really need to figure out a way to fix the coffee machine, else none of my work is going to get done. Need to get rid of the rotting food too lying in kitchen before the neighbors start complaining.

10:00 Am

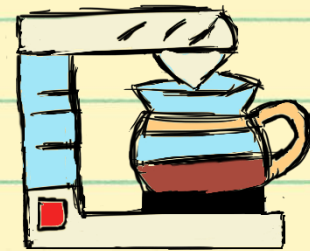

I think someone broke into my house yesterday, but I'm not sure if they found anything interesting. Or probably got lost in my huge DIRT collection!

Either way, I need to find a way to secure this place in a much better manner, at least that's what the cops said. Thinking of changing my door bell randomly. May need to use my useless pots and the light.

I don't get why people don't understand my inventions. I worked so hard, for like, AN HOUR straight and none of my so-called colleagues or the professors appreciate the mechanism. They say it has already been created and has no use, but what they don't understand, is the amount of precision involved in building each component. Anyway, these guys don't have a future, so their opinion holds no importance to me.

Either way, I have accomplished my mission of fixing the god damn coffee machine. Since, no one was "interested" in my invention, I added it in my coffee maker. It's quite simple. The right quantity rings the longest! I just have to keep tapping till I hear what I need to.

I know I'm good at art, it's just that, I take my own time, which is apparently "a lot" for others. Just to make sure I get the highest marks in this subject, I had to eliminate my competitors by any means. I never really liked competition, just puts too much stress on a person. Especially me, when I could be doing something better.

Christina and George are the only ones that can possibly score higher than me in this subject, hence, I stole their sheets. They won't pass out of college anyway since they suck in other subjects, so there is no harm done.

For now, I have hidden the sheets in a safe place, which is my drawer.

8:30 pm

Today I went out for a walk, and the neighbor's dog started barking at me again.

I remember few months ago, when that dog pissed on my carpet in the Living Room.

How difficult is it to train a dog? They probably don't feed it properly either.

One day, I will piss on their carpet. Just to teach them a lesson!

Anyway, this gives me a stronger reason for securing this place.

Oh my god! That reminds me of the mechanism I was working on for my Main Door! Need to make a quick note of the details.

Quick note: Depending on what kind of pots are outside I'll have to begin interacting with the bricks next to the doorbell. And then continue the path according to the pattern. Finding the correct brick unlocks the door.

If the door bell is round

not cracked Pot = Upper brick * 2

b. If the door bell is square cracked pots = Upper brick * 1

not cracked Pot = right brick * 2

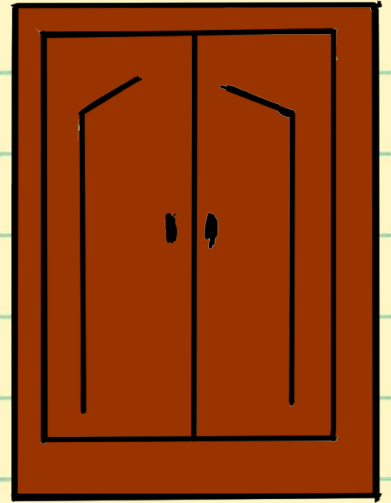

c. If porchlight is turned off, the "cracked pots" and "not cracked Pot" actions are doubled.

d. If porchlight is turned on, the "cracked pots " and "not cracked Pot" actions are switched with each other.

I can't seem to remember where I put my kitchen key. I know I put in my jacket, but no clue which one. Since my hunger kept growing, I had to go out to a nearby restaurant and have the cheapest filling food. It was a fine walk. Luckily, the place wasn't too crowded, else I'd have to bring the burger back home, heat it, and then eat it. Too much work for my taste!

Unfortunately, I had to waste a part of my allowance for my endeavor.

Tuesday March 1, 2017

Man these nightmares are getting scarier by the day. Dreamt of the neighbor's dog trying to kill me. He looked pretty huge and angry. Almost wet my pants, the only clean cloth in my possession.

Which reminds me of the laundry receipt I kept on the couch. Need to check the date and collect my clothes soon before people start noticing. I may have marked it on my calendar.

I'll have to use the cash that I had saved for an upcoming game to pay for it. Think it's placed in a jar on my side table.

9:00 am

Trying to work on this art assignment, but it has too many patterns which don't make sense. I really could have invested this time into making something else. Which reminds me of the lock design code that I have to finish.

5:00 pm

Finally! I'm done with the art assignment. Had no clue that this crap would take so long. Now I can watch my favorite movie. Funny how the numbers are so frequently used, that they are slowly starting to disappear.

Saturday March 5, 2017

08:00 am

College was boring today. But the best part was watching Christina and George finally realizing that their assignments had gone missing. What they didn't know, that I was the one who stole it. I've never felt so good before.

10:00 pm

Man! I accidently spilled orange juice all over my Tony Stark bedsheet. It was my favorite one! Don't have anything to clean it with. I really need to buy some bathroom supplies.

Things to buy

- Bleach
- Brush
- Shaving Foam
- Razor
- Toilet Rolls

Monday March 6, 2017

12:00 pm

I just bought some supplies. There goes my pocket money. Wish I could program a machine that would yield me unlimited amount of cash. Running so low!

9:00 pm

So I found a cool solution for it by detaching the door and programming it. Used some of the items in washroom to make this work. The regular switch triggers my flickering light which emits either a yellow or black light. And just so my mom cannot ruin things again, I've added a twist to it by having symbols on my mirror, which can be seen through the tiny flickers when I touch the mirror once. My sink knobs will have to be interacted according to the occurrence of the symbols.

Or was it the sacrifice to Satan that would make things better?

STEP 2 – Pour it over the dumb art assignment

STEP 3 – Kill self

8:00 am

My favorite movie is going to be shown on the channel "Hookflix" tonight. I don't know why they named it that way. Need to buy some popcorn and drinks, and remember not to spill it. Either way I'm quite excited!

3:00 pm

I need to set an alarm before taking a nap, else I'll miss my movie. It's placed on my shelf near the lamp which is beside my bed. Good thing I have a pattern for such kind of days, just need to refer the calendar. Funnily, this pattern isn't just for setting alarms. It ends up generating an interesting code! The pattern has to be input according to the dates in an ascending manner.

How am I so good at everything? Companies should hire me already!

The movie was great! Loved the way how Batman and Superman became instant best friends as soon as the word "Martha" popped up. Why can't other movies have such kind of beautiful moments? Best movie!

4:00 pm

Almost broke my glasses because I kept them in the wardrobe amongst clothes. Need to keep it in a safe place. Maybe the medicine cabinet in the washroom? Why do I even have that much security attached with it if I'm just storing the god damn solution?

I guess it can finally be put to some use.

11:00 pm

Just bought a music system from a shop nearby. It was the most interesting thing I have seen in a while. The size of it is extremely small and comes installed with several types of music. Which means I don't have to purchase anything for it. And it has a cool system which changes the music type every minute! I'm so pumped up because it keeps getting intense.

Thursday March 9, 2017

8:00 pm

The exemplum code I was working on is finally coming together. To test it out, I'll use it on my wardrobe since it doesn't have a proper lock. It cost me a fortune to get the pressure plates, but that doesn't matter, it's my coolest invention so far! Also has a cool knob system.

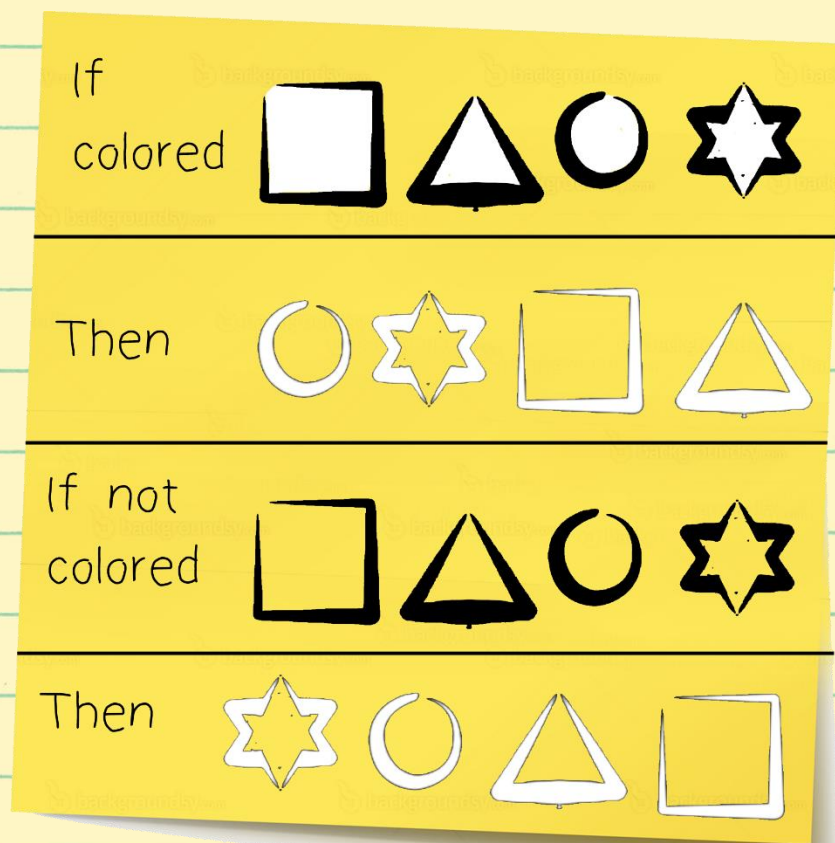

And the fun part, I'll get different patterns every time I try open the cupboard.

11:00 pm

Okay how do I forget that I have a bad memory. I mean, I have too much on my mind.

Forgot to make a note of that sequence, and could not get my fresh laundry out of the wardrobe. So annoying!

Quick note – I have to get my glasses before I can see the code on the computer screen. After I get the code I have to refer to the door knob and depending on that I have to decrypt.

Wardrobe Door knob

		Colored to no colored, no colored to colored
		Input shapes right to left
		Colored to no colored, no colored to colored + Input shapes right to left

3:00 PM

A classmate of mine invited me to his birthday party. I barely even know this guy. But I could use some of the free food available there, no harm done. I'm not sure if I should buy him a gift, or make one. Maybe I could give him my special lamp.

8:00 PM

Man I'm so tired! There were too many people in the party. Christina and George were there too, but they didn't look quite happy. Not my problem really, it's the survival of the fittest. And I got free food, including a really delicious cake. Bought some back home to store it for tomorrow, but the stupid fridge. It's so dirty!

Friday March 10, 2017

So far the day has been going really well! College went okayish, at least I didn't get another art "ass"ignment. Although morning wasn't very interesting. Had a burnt toast for breakfast with left over jam. Need to get some cereal.

The exemplum code I was testing, can now be seen on the screen only through my glasses. I guess this marks an end to both my bank balance and my inventions. Doesn't mean I plan on stopping. I'll probably build a cleaning machine, because my house is in the worst state possible.
